Dear Mr Reid

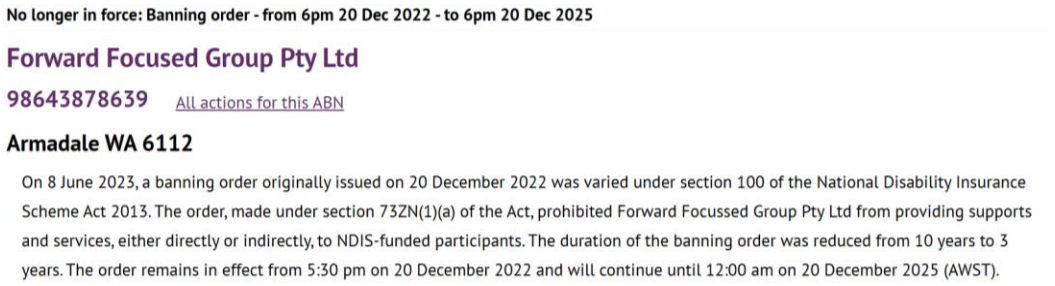

ART Applications – Vida REID and Commissioner of the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission (ART no. 2023/3361); Simon REID and Commissioner of the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission (ART no.2023/3363); Forward Focused Group Pty Ltd and Commissioner of the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission (ART no.2023/4494)

We write to you in your capacity as director of Forward Focused Group Pty Ltd (FFG) and refer to your email to the Tribunal dated 14 January 2026 in the proceedings referred to above.

As you are aware, the issues raised by your email will be considered by the Tribunal at an interlocutory hearing on 20 March 2026. One of these issues relates to the expiry of the banning order made the Commissioner of the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission (NDIS Commission) against FFG, which occurred on 20 December 2025. Your email expressed concerns that, as of 14 January 2026, the NDIS Commission's public register of banning orders still listed the order against FFG as active and indicated your view that this "introduces a separate and unrelated administrative error that has become part of FFG's ongoing claim".

Ahead of the hearing on 20 March 2026, we have taken instructions on this point to try and narrow the issues in dispute between the parties.

We are first instructed to draw to your attention that the NDIS Commission's banning order register has been updated since the date of your email. The register now shows that the banning order against FFG expired at 6pm on 20 December 2025 and is no longer in force. Please refer to the below extract taken from the NDIS Commission website on the next page of this letter.

No longer in force: Banning order - from 6pm 20 Dec 2022 - to 6pm 20 Dec 2025

On 8 June 2023, a banning order originally issued on 20 December 2022 was varied under section 100 of the National Disability Insurance Scheme Act 2013. The order, made under section 73ZN(1)(a) of the Act, prohibited Forward Focussed Group Pty Ltd from providing supports and services, either directly or indirectly, to NDIS-funded participants. The duration of the banning order was reduced from 10 years to 3 years. The order remains in effect from 5:30 pm on 20 December 2022 and will continue until 12:00 am on 20 December 2025 (AWST).

In circumstances where the Commission's register now correctly records the expiry of FFG's banning order, there can be no relevant prejudice or loss which would give rise to a separate or actionable claim by FFG as suggested by your email.

Moving forward, our client's instructions are that it is standard practice for expired banning orders to remain on the NDIS Commission register indefinitely with a status of 'no longer in force'. This is consistent with the goals of the NDIS Commission's Publishing Regulatory Activity policy (Policy) to provide greater transparency and visibility over the NDIS Commission's regulatory activities and to influence behaviour and deter future wrongdoing in the NDIS market. You can view a copy of the Policy on the NDIS Commission's website at https://www.ndiscommission.gov.au/about-us/legislation-rules-and-policies/publishing-regulatory-activity-policy.

The Policy provides that in exceptional cases, an individual or provider may submit a written request to the Commission for their name or business name to be removed from the register following the expiry of a banning order. If you would like to make such a request, you may send an email attaching written reasons to internalintegrity@ndiscommission.gov.au.

For the avoidance of doubt, the decision to remove (or not remove) the expired banning order will be made solely by the NDIS Commission. We have no control over the outcome of such an application.

Given the banning order against FFG has expired, we further invite you to consider whether there may be utility in withdrawing FFG's appeal against the NDIS Commission's decision to ban.

We otherwise refer to our existing submissions on the issues raised by your email. Please contact us if you would like to discuss further.

This correspondence has been copied both to Mrs Reid and to the Tribunal.

Yours sincerely
