Dear Terri,

Thank you for contacting National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA) in relation to your feedback received on 11 October 2021.

The National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA) appreciates the time you have taken to provide us with your feedback. The NDIA has a strong commitment to learning from feedback to assist with the continual improvement of NDIS services.

Apologies for the delay in relation to this matter. Furthermore, I wish to acknowledge the distress the stated experience may have caused Amber Wilson and all related parties concerned.

In reference to acknowledging your feedback relating to your statement of an alleged breach of privacy and stated conduct by the stated support worker and the stated provider.

Provider complaints are lodged through the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission. The NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission is an independent agency established to improve the quality and safety of NDIS supports and services.

They regulate NDIS providers, provide national consistency, promote safety and quality services, resolve problems and identify areas for improvement. As such, you may wish to contact them on 1800 035 544 or email www.ndiscommission.gov.au regarding your concerns.

Hi Terri,

I believe Keiva has lodged a complaint against you/FFG. I got a call from the NDIS about a complaint I supposedly made against FFG.

They're gonna call me back apparently, to let me know what's going on, as I told them that I put a complaint against my now ex-support worker, not my support coordinator.

Thought I should let you know.

Kind Regards,

Importance: High

Good Afternoon,

I would like to advise of the incident that occurred in the previous few months and is currently stil ongoing.

My participant Amber Wilson who recently went through a breakup and suffered from domestic violence requested to reside in a “safe house” with three of her children who also have disabilities.
Amber was commenced with FFG and came with her own independent support worker as Amber also has multiple disabilities and relays on the supports of support workers daily. This support worker is contracted through Mable as an independent support worker called Kevia - 0421668769. I believe Keiva is located in the Rockingham area who bills for support work through NDIS: 430971573 Amber Wilson.

ave landed my participant in danger, yet again.

Hi Amber,

Thank you for your detailed response regarding the supports and the most recent incident that has occurred. I will not comment on what she has stated to you, as I'm a professional and will not stoup to that level.
I have contacted Mable in hope for a disciplinary meeting with Kevia as she has breached your privacy as a support worker and this behaviour is extremely unprofessional.
I have attached the only messages I have sent to Kevia to contact myself for any shifts which she has ignored and breached also.
I will be sending a very detailed report to Mable for the constant messaging you are receiving from Kevia. I can only advise to block Kevia from any further messaging.

I have advised Amanda of what has occurred and requested if this support worker is to attend your home again, the police are to be called.

I will keep you updated, I have sent an invite for your upcoming planning meeting.

Subject: NDIS Review and Support Work- Wilson

Hi Terri,

Please let me know what is happening with my review as I did answer the phone to them but I couldn't manage it alone and I have no idea what your availability is so I could reschedule, which is what he requested to happen as I was too distressed to do the review on my own. I've also heard that sometimes the NDIS decide that talking to the participant at all = review done and slash the heck out of their plan, which we can not have happen for obvious reasons.

When it comes to support work:

•Night needs someone just for her from morning till night-time, except for when at Respite as they already have support there, and whilst at school, especially as they are struggling with the days they attend The Zone being cut by half as the other 2 are unable to attend and they need a support worker to be with them as well.
Amanda, support workers, all 3 children, and myself believe this is something that needs to happen as it is a struggle for all of us currently having 2 workers during non-school hours (excluding overnight when we only need 1 active support worker except during certain circumstances), trying to supervise Night, trying to help me get stuff done, trying to be there for the younger 2, and trying to do domestic assistance, it's just too much to do at once, especially with my health being as it is currently.

•Night's Respite is required as he is struggling to be at this house and needs a break from here and to be able to feel like a normal teenager. I need to know when this can happen.

•Keiva sent the email in the screenshot attached, as well as others. I've not been okay recently and so didn't answer any calls or messages of any type, especially because I don't know what is happening in regards to funding because the review didn't happen, so how could I reply to her when she requested hours, not to mention she is pissy as I've requested you to be the contact to coordinate all the supports. Because of the messages I have received from her, I'm hesitant to have her back now, regardless of funding.

I feel guilty for asking so much. Like, I know that what I have requested is necessary, it's just, it still makes me feel gross asking for help ??

Oh, and on a different note, Paul has requested that me and my children find somewhere else to live and keeps getting very angry at me because I can't always reply to him in a time frame he sees as appropriate, even though he knows it's because I'm not coping well enough to. He's blaming me for our current situations (even though he said asking why the police will be called if he shows up here (even though I have told him why) even saying that he would like to see us try as all the cops will see is a husband talking to his wife at his house and he has every right to be here, keeps pressuring me, etc. Oh, and he seen Yasmine for an hour on her birthday (she needed to see him and it was supervised), during which there was an incident of gaslighting that the SW let me know about.

I have contacted Legal Aid for assistance with property dispute, safety planning, and some family thing (basically to organise visitation), which are all 3 different sections. I feel like given how communication with him is breaking down, getting Legal Aid involved is required and needed to be done as soon as possible from the point it became necessary, especially as we can't both be represented by Legal Aid, so I needed to get in ASAP. They also have represented me previously, so they know some of the family history already. They helped me to get DNA tests done and helped me get my kids back from CPFS. It seems like I am the first that contacted them since they didn't tell me they couldn't provide advice and/or assistance, which they do if another party contacted them first for advice/representation about the situation.

Kind Regards,
Amber Wilson

PLEASE FORWARD TO THE APPOINTED PLANNER
Good Afternoon,

Jamie Wilson who now goes by the name of Jodie not Lexi or Jamie Wilson anymore. Jodie is transitioning from a male to female.
Jodie was not showering for days and refused to. Support workers were reporting back to Amanda at 24/7 nurse assist. Jodie is not showering and neither has access to deodorant. Amanda took Jodie some deodorant and had a chat to Jodie about self-care routines. Jodie had a shower and went to bed at a reasonable time in the caravan located outside of the Wilson home. Support workers usually wake Jodie up on the weekend, and weekdays during school holidays at 9am.
Jodie was not in the caravan and just left without saying goodbye or check in with her mother, Amber Wilson. Amber stated this is completely unlike her and was worried of Jodie committing suicide, as Jodie's mental health can be up and down. Amber then locked herself in her bedroom so no one can communicate with her. Support workers attempted to open the bedroom door and give her comfort while Jodie was still missing, but she wouldn't. The police then arrived. Amber called the police while she was in her locked bedroom stating her daughter had gone missing and raised it as a risk to the police advising the mental health of Jodie. The police asked what supports were in place for the children. Amanda had a conversation with the police officer in Ambers absence. Due to Amber's decline in depression and pain management support workers are attending around the clock care as a duty of care and for the sake of Ambers severe mental health decline. The police did ask why Jodie is sleeping outside in a caravan. Amanda made it very aware to the police of the DCP safety plan that is and has been in place.
This safety plan states Jodie (Jamie at the time) is sleeping in a caravan as the other children are at risk of dangerous sexual behaviours that has occurred previously.

Police were satisfied with the care in place and no reports will be lodged to DCP as concern. Jodie arrived back home at the Wilson home at 12pm. Jodie was visiting friends and was gone for over 3 hours. Jodie advised to the support worker, she left because she doesn't want to be in the house anymore.

Amber shortly after called Amanda stating she feels DCP will now come and take the children away from the report that was given to the police in their attendance.
Amanda stated the police cleared everything and no letter of concern is going anywhere as they're is no concern.
Amber did not believe Amand a and went completely non verbal with her body shutting down from extreme stress. Amber's Autism plays a huge factor in the complete shut down called the "silent treatment".

- Being completely silent
- Not being able to communicate in any way
- Withdrawing to a quiet, dark space to get away from the cause of their shutdown
- Not being able to move from where they are because they're thinking too much about the cause of their shutdown
- Lying down on a flat surface, being completely still

Amber is unresponsive to any text, calls and all forms of communication. SC has attempted to contact Amber to ask if she would like to push the meeting out as she is already so over whelmed. Amber has not responded as of yet.
Amanda called me shortly after all the events above and stated Amber had a fall. Amanda advised she is fine and another incident report will come through shortly. Please be advised and I will keep you updated on my end.

Please see attached documentation for Amber Wilson for upcoming review tomorrow 29/09/2021.

Subject: Amber Wilson

Hi Amanda,

Please see email response for Amber Wilson, Please advise if you need assistance in this area -

Joda needs to have a support worker with her at The Zone more often as there was an inappropriate touch that happened there last week (Joda put their now ex-girlfriend's hand on the crotch area of their pants) and the workers at The Zone feel it would be detrimental to Joda to not go to The Zone and the staff there are doing their best and I haven't been told of any other incidents in the whole time she has attended, but they feel like it would be best for a Support Worker to be with her so there is closer supervision.

Pick up from The Zone also has become a difficulty again.

I'm going to speak to Amanda about it. She needs to be picked up 8pm Mondays, 5pm Tuesdays, 5pm Wednesdays, 9pm Thursdays and 9pm Fridays, but the overnight staff can't leave here to do the 9pm pick ups (and the 8pm one too if we're running behind), even when I can go with because the lil ones are asleep by then (and I don't want to delay bed on the Mondays or any other say), and there needs to be a SW at The Zone whenever possible now (due to an incident and them leaving early, with another teen), which is going to chew through funding faster. Joda's respite worker is also enquiring as to whether Respite will continue or if it has been replaced due to 24/7 Support.

Written from what Joda said when I asked her why she left The Zone early, especially without letting me or SW know, though doesn't seem completely accurate as she was seen leaving The Zone with another teenager.
"I was walking home n seen a friend not looking okay and he wasn't. He looked down and we walked to bus station. While waiting for his bus, Angus said he had something on his phone to show me. Transport security asked if we were alright and watched us to make sure safe cos we are young and it was late. I was going to go home, or call you, but my sim still isn't set up for calls and stuff. Angus's phone was on 10% battery and wanted to show me things before his phone died. Jack (? Friend left The Zone with perhaps), not my Support Worker Jack but a different Jack, well his phone was dead so I couldn't ask him to use that to call. I watched the things (J replied "cars n that, cos I like cars as well, like Tobias does" when asked what things they meant by things) instead, but I did consider asking security to call you."
Basically, she didn't want someone she knew to feel like shit, especially as they have family issues. Anguse Dad, siblings, etc left their Mum.

I told Joda that I'm going to see if someone can be with her when at zone so she can support friends (as friends do) but in a safe way. I didn't tell J that Tracey G from The Zone (can be contacted on Mondays via 92364554 and will ask her for consent to share her mobile number) has requested that I do so, not only for that but due to other behavioural concerns, as to help keep Joda going to her and being as hon

Hi Amber,

Thank you for your long and detailed email. It's good to hear you are now on the mend.

Thank you for clarifying all of the below for Keiva.
Choice and control Amber, if you are happy with the supports in place, this is entirely your choice. Again, I'm just here to advise what is in your best interest and the argi bargi of the NDIS.

With invoicing, I'm not sure where Mable is sending these to? Can you please forward me all invoicing and ensure this is paid? This will be from the plan management swap over at that happened with your change of managed funds. If so, please forward all invoicing to invoices@providerchoice.com.au. Happy to approve the invoicing with your consent to do so, but Mable will need to send the invoicing through to myself.

FCA
Yes, I will chat with the OT about pushing the appointment back by 45 minutes so you can attend your long awaited appointment.
I will keep you posted on this. Any other updated reporting you have, please send everything through for me to advocate in this upcoming review. I have requested Amber to attend the meeting to also bring her Medical professionalism in to the meeting.

I have everything crossed for you, and hopefully you have better movement shortly.

Speak soon!

Support Coordination Service Manager at Forward Focused Group

keeping hydrated, medicated, fed, and asking for what I need when I need help.
I was too excited Thursday as I weighed in at 140.00kgs (now 138.70kgs), which set off my POTS and it all went downhill from there. I wouldn't have struggled so much emotionally with the hospital stay if they didn't keep treating me like a fraud. It was so messed up and I'm making a complaint about the ED staff.

I do understand the importance of the FCA, and that it is a very high priority, but, I've already rescheduled my Dermatology appointment 3 times already because of hospital and such. I can't reschedule again as it is with a private clinic and a medical appointment, not a disability appointment, so I am paying out of pocket for this appointment, whether I attend or not and it is an appointment I have waited quite some time for and is also much needed.
A couple options that I've thought of;
?If we can push the FCA back about 30mins (preferably 45-60mins), then I think everything will be manageable,
?If they can do the property walk through first and then have them meet me once I've gotten back, I think that will also be manageable.
Would either of those work instead?

Just to clear a couple things up in as little words as possible, please don't take this as being abrasive, I just don't want to drag out my answers more than necessary ??

I requested Keiva not to come on Tuesday, and she didn't.
I requested that Keiva come Wednesday, so we could discuss what would be best over the next few weeks, etc, and she did.
Keiva will next be out 11:30am on Friday and we will attend Hydrotherapy together, after which, she will be having a 2 week break.
I did think that Keiva taking extra time off was already organised, but I made an assumption I shouldn't have, which is one of the reasons I did agree to Wednesday.

I asked her what hours she would like when she comes back and she told me that she will work around whatever I need, so rostering seems like it should be okay.
Time I know Keiva needs off is Thursday afternoons from 2pm.
I'm not entirely certain that she will want to come back after her time off.

My opinion of Kevia's mental health is not a professional one and is biased by how I feel about myself and how I have been treated in the past by people, and it is most definitely not an opinion that Keiva agrees with, as I found out today when I brought it up.

Keiva and I do have an agreement through Mable, which is appropriate as far as I am aware, but please correct me if I am wrong.
As far as I am aware, Mable requires, and Keiva has;

- NDIS screening check
- Liability workers insurance
- ABN

Should I be asking her to do a report this week for the upcoming review?
I think it would be best coming from me.

g to your advice, even when it may seem like I am not. My mind may be busy but it is taking notes.

BTW, I'm just wondering if you approved any of the Mable timesheets lately? It's fine if you did, I was just meaning to message you about them before doing so myself to find out if there was anything that needed to be organised first, but I'm even further behind in stuff I need to do and hadn't quite gotten there yet ?? I'm still behind in sorting out some invoices and am so confused about what I have and have not done yet ??

I seen Dr Geeta yesterday. I forgot a bunch of what I needed to discuss with her but she has made fresh referrals to my Cardiologist and Neurologist and has requested I make urgent appointments with them both, that I follow up with FSH Pain Clinic and with Dr Femi, that I see my Physiotherapist more frequently at least for the next while, along with acupuncture, and has put me on bedrest (again).
She also holds the same opinion as Amanda, that I should have stayed in hospital for longer since I was actually in the Medical ward and that's basically where one needs to be to start getting things properly investigated in a timely manner, though experience has lead me to believe otherwise.
I forgot to mention the foot thing that started Thursday last week and the lack of usefulness of my legs back on the 20th August at my Sister's, amongst other things

I do need some guidance on what to next time there is an emergency related to my disabilities, as clearly ambulances and Rockingham hospital are both clearly no longer options. I'm not sure who to go to about that.
This is just the latest in a long line of traumatic experiences at that place and I will never go back there.

I also seen OT yesterday and she has concerns about what could be causing the current issues, especially as holding my head up properly causes dizziness and migraines pretty much instantly. She seemed to agree with needing to see the Neurologist. She also seemed concerned about my numb foot which has improved quite a bit since the Clexane injection.

My movement is continuing to improve and I hope to be back to my "normal" soon.

Kind Regards,
Amber Wilson.

Hi Amber,

It's so wonderful to see you in better spirits. Amanda has advised you are feeling lots better mentally and physically.
Super proud of the movement you have made Amber, truly!

Unfortunately I have not been able to get any sooner for you. I hope this date is ok for you? Again, super important appointment ??

I want to check in regarding the support worker Kevia. Amanda advised you requested Kevia not to attend for today's shift. I did request this via SMS today but she did attend and disregarded my SMS.
I have advised Kevia she will be rostered on through myself and not to contact you regarding any future shifts. As your support coordinator I coordinate your supports and track your funding. I also ensure all supports in place follow the NDIS guidelines and expectations.

You advised in your previous emails of Kevia's mental health, which was flagged as a concern. Kevia is not currently suitable for the role until she is able to manage her own mental health issues, she is hired to support you and your mental health. Having mental health issues does not mean automatically disqualify a person from being a support worker but if someone is experiencing on going acute mental health issues it could be potentially detrimental to your own mental health. Kevia is not able to provide and neither is she equipped to assist with your mental health as you advised in email she is currently experiencing her own mental health battles . Kevia, as an independent support worker MUST per the NDIS guidelines have to correct systems in place including documenting her work and providing a support worker report 6 weeks prior to any formal review of funding. Kevia has not created any service agreements neither contracts to put in place for the services she is offering. Kevia as an independent support worker must have the following qualifications to continue her role –

- NDIS screening check
- Liability workers insurance
- ABN

When going for a review, the NDIS will request a report to justify the hours being billed for support workers. This could effect your funding long term wise.
I cannot tell you what to do, I'm here to advise and navigate the complex system for you. I'm advising what would be in the best interest of you and your funding.

Hi Beth,

I hope you are well.

We are currently awaiting a urgent review to take place for Amber Wilson has she has been in and out of hospital the last couple of weeks due to a complete shutdown of her body.
Amber, as you are aware also has Autism level 2. Amber previously has attempted multiple attempts of suicide, so we are on high alert with the agency we have put in place for her to ensure her safety, as we have a duty of care.

Amanda from 24/7 Nurse Assist has been back and forth from the hospital as this is her 3rd check in for this week.
Saturday 4/09/2021 Amber was rushed to hospital as she lost all movement and feeling in her legs. Amber was also unable to use her bladder.
Amber was checked in to the ward and is currently being monitored physically and mentally. Amber under took both assessments for mental and physical and the doctors are yet to advise what the cause is from.
I would like to advise yourself being the planner for both children of Amber, Tobias and Yasmine Wilson. Amber has 3 children who are currently receiving supports and funded through the NDIS.

All services have been contacted regarding the children's welfare at this time as Amber has recently went through a marriage break down where Paul is no longer living with the family and Amber no longer has a second parent involved to assist with the children.
Amber and the children were being abused mentally, by the step father Paul, hence why Amber left the marriage. All children do not have any parental supports in place.
All supports currently are being received from 24/7 nurse assist.
DCP have been advised of the current situation and has advised they will not intervene as too many supports are in place right now with the children. I would like to notify the NDIS of the funding currently being utilized for the services in place while Amber is in hospital due to the lack of informal supports.

If I can possibly have the direct contact for the delegate who will be conducting Amber's upcoming plan to advise of the current circumstances prior to the review and have this put through as a sense of urgency.

06/09/2021	Terri Roberts	45 minutes	Phone Call / SMS	Emergency	SC took call from Amanda who advised Amber was rushed to hospital again and has been checked in. Amber currently has no movement in her legs, bladder and any lower part of the body from a complete shut down. Amanda advised she was at the hospital the entire Saturday supporting amber. Amanda has out supports in place, and SC approved this knowing the circumstances. SC stated she will inform the NDIS of current situation	$75.11
03/09/2021	Terri Roberts	2 hrs	incident	Amber in hospital again	SC spoke with Amanda who advised Amber is in the hospital again currently sitting in emergency for chest pains. Amber has not yet been seen. Amanda advised the independent support worker who is was hired by amber is with Amber for support. Amanda advised Kevia the support worker was abusing staff in the hospital and also abused Amanda stating this is under the SC and support workers duty of care to be the beck and call for Amber. Amanda stated Kevia is heavily playing a huge impact on the mental health of Amber and is not suited for Amber. SC stated she has in writing from Amber that Kevia has her own mental health issues. SC agreed this is not suited. Amanda also advised a agreement was signed between the participant for a nominee. SC stated this is fraudulent behaviour as Amber is not in the correct mind frame and this is also a conflict of interest. SC stated she will need further information to then intervene	$200.28

Hi Amber,

I'm so sorry to hear your having a tough time at this moment in time.

Let me know when your feeling better and we can complete the invoicing. I don't want to put anymore stress on you right now.

I have great updates regarding your plan –
Your plan's light touch has been completed and the entire plan has been topped up.
Would you like me to move you to plan manager provider choice as Yasmine and Tobias are currently commenced with them?

I have requested a urgent review to take place and we will be contacted in the next few business days for a booking.
We will need to complete a functional capacity assessment. I can reach out to your current OT who has completed report for your previously, but due to the short time frame we have to work with we may need to get another OT involved.
I have another OT that can come to you next week and conduct this report and I can work along side her to ensure all information in the report is accurate with all information needed. This review will be conducted very shortly due to the change of circumstance and lack of funding for the supports you require.

With the upcoming review, can you please provide your psychologist details in hope we can get a report prior to going in to the report? If we don't have this, NDIS wont fund for this therapy ongoing.

I have also been advised your AT form for CPAP machine has been completed and quotes have been gathered. We are now awaiting a answer from the NDIS for approval. I will advise once I have a answer.

That sounds great, only thing is, I'm not sure how soon I'll physically be able to travel that far. As it stands right now, my Dr has me on strict bedrest, and whilst I'm not the best at following that, I do know trying to travel that far will be far to painful.

Hi Amber,

We can certainly go through this together, can we maybe do another meeting at the office and I can coach you on the invoicing?
I can also assist with any further over due invoices you may have from the old plans.

I hope your feeling a little better and hopefully you come home to a clean house ??

Hi Matthew,

Can I kindly request a urgent call back regarding Amber Wilson who has been rushed to hospital this afternoon due to a mental break down.
I have been advised by the support workers who attend to Amber and the children via phone she was rushed off in a ambulance and awaiting to hear back.
The support worker Amanda, from 24/7 nurse assist advised she may be admitted to the psychiatric ward at Rockingham and will update myself asap.

If you could please give me a call when your free to discuss the matter?
Thankyou,

Hi Amber,

You don't need to do anything you don't want to do. I was extremely worried about you today. I'm sorry I have not been able to be in contact at such a hard time you are experiencing.
I have read your email you sent early this morning and I would like to clarify the below –
At no point have you put any stresses on me to take time away from work. I was genuinely sick from tonsillitis and was unable to open my eyes from the severe headaches. I had no choice but to handball at this time, as I was unable to function. So please be aware, this is not from you or your family.

Regarding Keiva and her mental health. As a support worker, she is your support person not the other way around. I understand you spend time with the support worker and need to form a connection but discussing mental health with a participant who requires support with her own mental health is a dangerous combination and very concerning. If this is affecting your mental health, please reach out and I'm happy to have this conversation with Keiva, for the best interest of you. Have you been in contact with your psychologist? Would you like me to reach out in hope of increase of supports prior to the review?

In regards to invoicing for Yasmine or Tobias, please send all invoices to invoices@providerchoice.com.au for payment. As for your NDIS plan, its not approved as of yet for the light touch, I called the NDIS and they have since advised its not completed (we were total different the other week, I know.)
I will call first thing tomorrow morning to see where this is sitting.

I will lodge a s48 first thing tomorrow morning via phone and escalate this as urgent tomorrow due to your mental health and living situation with the kids.

Nurse 24/7, yes I can request Amanda to jump in to assist for yourself. I will advise tomorrow what she can do. For hours ect, what days is Keiva currently doing so we don't double book? Is this still 10am-2pm? Tuesday- Friday? Don't feel guilty, your reaching out for supports. This is a great step Amber, I'm proud of you!

Please let me know when may be good for a chat tomorrow on the phone to discuss your move back home. I will help where ever I can. If you feel your mental health Is decreasing significantly, please contact 000 for emergency services.

I hope I have answered some of your questions,

Hi Terri,

I hope you are feeling better.

There's a few things to go through if you are receiving my emails.

It looks like I can start taking things back home Monday or Tuesday. I'm hoping to have everything back home on Tuesday, so that on Wednesday we can take the kids to school, do any last touches here so it's exactly how it was when we got here (aside from linen all folded the same way and such now), then go home.

I've managed to, amicably, get Paul to go live with a friend while he looks for a permanent place to live.

On the plus side, that means that we no longer have to look for somewhere to live, at least not yet.
There's downsides too but will have to cross those bridges as they come.

I still need the instructions to submit stuff to the NDIA properly, and as quick as possible so everyone can get paid. Keiva needs the information about how she needs to submit her invoices as well.

When do we put the change of circumstances through? I'm assuming we would want to do it sooner rather than late since it will take a while to be done. I am a bit he is getting so burnt out not being able to be there for her own kids lately cos of all my shit and the last thing she and her family needs is a nosedive in her mental health, and I don't want that happening to her either, partially for selfish reasons too as I don't want to lose her as a support. I'm scared that you being off work is my fault too ??

On Saturday, I had the worst meltdown I've had in a long time. It got quite bad when the Nurse Assist workers were leaving but they had to get the kids to their class and there was only just enough workers available to get them there, so the worst of it was when I was alone and I was completely non-functional. I couldn't even call or message anyone to help me. I ended up like that for hours and there was nothing I could do about it at all. I've been completely exhausted ever since, a burden on everyone and a horrible Mother ??

Subject: Unsure of Security

Hi Terri,

First up, Lexi, she came home and was in bed. Not sure when as I have even more difficulty in the evening/night than during the day, so especially at night, can't get out there in such weather. She never came inside the house yesterday.
Last night, I had asked Paul if he'd seen her today.
He said "Nope" then "After this one I'll go check her room"
"this one" meaning, the round of the game he was playing. A round on that game can be anywhere from 5mins to over 60mins long.
"her room" meaning the caravan.
10:27pm is when he checked, so thankfully not a long round, or at least didn't have long left. Almost 10mins after asking him because finishing a freaking GAME is more important that my child's SAFETY!
Like, yeah, she was safe in bed, but we hadn't know that yet. Anything could have happened, especially on a dark, stormy night when he wouldn't even go pick her up to ensure a safe trip home through Kwinana!
He had just been laughing and playing on his game instead.
My friend up in Wanneroo offered to come down cos I was freaking out and wanted to go look for her, especially as I didn't trust him to at that stage. I was going to take her up on that offer but then found out Lexi was home, thankfully.
I hadn't asked Paul sooner because he generally gets pissed off when he's gaming and asked to do something, which I could handle if he only had attitude against me but he has woken Lexi to yell at her before, and with her already deciding not to come inside, I was really anxious what Paul would do and what repercussions that would have on Lexi.

The other issue, I'm not sure how safe messaging is, whether via my phone, laptop or any of my accounts. A while ago now, Paul set up Microsoft Family Link, with himself as 'Family Manager' which means he can track everyone's activity. Not to mention, when we got our Samsung S7s a few years ago, I thought that we were just able to pool data because we went as family/married but it's not that, I actually don't have any permissions to contact Optus on my own behalf, it's all under Paul's name instead. So I don't have an account I can sign into to see what he can actually see when it comes to my calls, txts, etc. I'm getting increasingly paranoid that he is able to access even my deleted message

s. I know that he is also more tech savvy than myself and last night I got paranoid that he may be able to remotely view my screens and maybe even go through my information, whether laptop, phone or both, so I switched off my phone until he was asleep and logged out of everything on my laptop. I've updated my passwords again on Facebook, Google account, etc since then too. He's asleep right now, so I can be reasonably sure that he can't see this, which is also why I didn't send through an update on Lexi last night once she was found safe in bed. I don't think there's currently any programs that can record screens being accessed remotely, but because once he is up, he's on his computer from when he gets home from dropping the kids at school (sometimes sooner) until he goes to bed any time between 10pm-4am, I don't think it will be safe to message anything about him and I need to delete screen shots I have of his, though I've shared a decent amount of them via Facebook Messenger to date and with my password updated there, they should be safe, just not my photos on my phone/laptop as it's all back up onto cloud, which he has access to. I've sleeping with my phone hidden on my person and in my pillow this past week and once I've sent this, I'm going to turn off ability to find my device, even though if my phone gets misplaced or taken I won't be able to find it, but it means I'll be able to at least go places without it being recorded, which means I can use a phone booth and go to places I need him to not know about and can get things sorted.
Like, there was NO reason for him to track my phone when I didn't reply within 10minutes unless he knows that I'm planning on leaving, as he knew I was out with a safe friend, with 2 of the kids and told him I wouldn't be back until later in the evening, so any justification he may have thought he could use, like me disappearing back in 2016 and 2018 (well and the 4th Jan 2019 but I class that as 2018 still as it was part of that), it isn't able to be used. Each time I disappeared, I did not take the kids with me, nor was I with anyone, I also had more mobility than now, had a car and was able to drive, so yeah, just 100% inappropriate to track my whereabouts and I've been getting increasingly worried about what he can access of my information. I've had previous abusive partners that have gone through my phone devices, and that was with partners that didn't even work in IT and there wasn't such easy to use ways to do anything remotely, they needed to actually have my device in their hands. I also know from experience what can happen when someone tries to get out/get their kids out of an abusive situation. Heck, my Step-Father would kidnap my Brother or more of us, ca lling the cops and mental health emergency response services saying she had gone crazy, then beat her once the services dropped her off to him or once she was released from hospital. He would tell her, and them, that it was paranoia because of her schizophrenia, which may have been possible, but I freaking seen the shit he was doing. He would say that he's only ever hurt her in self defence and denied that he ever hurt me, that it was all in her head. She was the one fighting back in self defence and to try and protect me. It didn't help that the few professionals that considered my Mum was actually telling the truth told her that if she hit him back, then she was just as bad as him and deserves it. When I wouldn't go home when Lexi's bio-father wanted me home, he threatened to send the police to "collect" me, like I was property, not a person. He sent his mates (they were all big Maori blokes, including him) to come collect me instead since the police wouldn't, and they physically assaulted my friend whose house I had been at (I was at the shops by then, buying food because I was not going back to him after his threats). Yasmine's bio-father, he broke into my house and threatened to kill himself after threatening me. I had to call the cops to get him removed from my home. Paul has already said enough and has enough control over my stuff that I can reasonably believe he could threaten to hurt himself, hurt me or just not tell me that he could fuck me over digitally, since most of life is digital these days, including government paperwork.

I know I sound crazy and paranoid but I'm not stupid and others have seen things and know what can go wrong trying to leave him or even with successfully getting out. I have no choice but to play it extra safe here on out.
I need to go through and delete all my messages that have any mention of me leaving him or even the shit that he does, including this one, so please don't reply directly to this email, or at least exclude all but the very first paragraph from being copied into the reply, and don't make an email that has anything in the header or body that has anything suggestive of me leaving in it. And any calls, please always ask who it is and if you can have a private word with me if it's going to include anything about the abuse going on at home or us leving him, in case it isn't me who answers or I have to have the call on speaker.

Hi Amber,

No that's ok. It's good the kids are able to open up about how they are feeling, but I understand this weighs heavy on you as a mother.
Breathe, you have a plan of attack!

Regarding the kids, I just want to say well done. You are doing everything you can right now, and I hope you know that.

Hi Amber,

I did some research on the CPAP machine in hope we can get one funded for you.

This comes under Disability Related Health Supports –

- Provision of a constant positive airway pressure machine and consumables
- Provision of ventilator, air humidifier, portable suction machine and cough assist machine and consumables

But, you are not funded for this. I spoke with Brett the manager at Rockingham CPAP, who completes these reports to the NDIA. Brett advised how he puts the invoicing through to the NDIS. Please provide quotations for the CPAP machine and I will send to the NDIS for approval of machine. I have your sleep studies ect which will also be sufficient evidence for submitting along with the quote. This may be beneficial to have an OT to complete AT form for more justification on why this machine is deemed reasonable and necessary.

Yes you can purchase this as stated in your core budget. This is to maintain your health. Sleep is very important for your physical and mental health.

Send the invoicing off the to the NDIS and if you need assistance with the justification IF they are to push back, flick me an email.

? Appropriate cleaning/maintinence package (Mask wipes, tube cleaning solution, tube brush, machine filters and Nozoil)
? 2yrs of clinical care which provides; 5x Therapy reviews/follow-up bookings as well as free remote access if I (or my healthcare team) request to know how the effectiveness of therapy is.

It will take 2-3 weeks to complete this trial, so we won't know how clinically significant the benefits will be until then, though I will be having weekly check ins with them to find out the data so far.
My test done around a year or so ago showed that I would stop breathing 22x per hour typically and 47x per hour whilst in one of the sleep stages (I can't remember which).

I have also trialed the mandibular device as it was less invasive, though it provided little to no benefit when it stayed in my mouth the whole night, and I often would spit it out during my sleep, making it even more ineffective.

Apologies for the long email, especially as it is something that the NDIA may not even be able/willing to assist with.

Thank you for getting through all that and I hope I made enough sense.

Hi Amber,

Sorry for the late response on this email as it holds very important information for myself about how you are currently coping.
Can I just say, you are doing the best you can right now with the supports you have.

I will attempt to take off you as much as possible, I can't promise it will take the majority but I will do my absolute best. I think respite is a great idea! Can I ask where you will be heading? Please advise if you want assistance as we have a good contact through infinity living options who book respite for participants. They create the booking, deal with the background NDIS lingo and ensure you are rested during your stay. If you ever need assistance, please let me know.

New medical information gathered –
I have attached medical information I managed to get a hold of this week. Please see attached.

I truly hope you have a better day today, and thank you for opening up. You will find, once you write things down out of your head it's a little easier to deal with.

ork yet and I haven't gotten a reply from Dr Savery's office since their last one in May. My last email to them was back on the 1st to follow up from the month prior of no reply.

I'm overwhelmed by absolutely everything right now, I don't know how I'm going to manage but I know I will as giving up is not an option, not since my kids got psychologically harmed by me attempting to take my life, and sexually harmed because I wasn't here to protect them, not to mention neglected. They are too young to have their Mum hurt herself and I don't want them following in my footsteps, I'm already terrified of that enough as it is, especially since Jamie and Tobias do get suicidal as it is and they are 13 and 9 years old and it's been going on for years now. I need to show them that life does get better and we can get through really big feelings.
I've reached out to my Clin Psych, so I've had additional contact with him to help me through things lately. I have support from my friends and support worker too.
For self-care after the reviews on the 19th, I have organized respite for myself from the 19th-22nd, and then that weekend (also my husband's 40th), all 3 children will be going to respite. Jamie at Karen's and the younger 2 at family daycare. They don't go to daycare much (it's too much on our budget) but they do go on occasion, usually a day or 2 during school holidays, certain events, and emergencies. CPFS get us the 13-week SCCB (or whatever it is called now) when we have a case open with them sometimes, which has been really good
If needed, I will of course ask for help from my established supports and yourself, but I thought it also best to let you know that I am safe. Overwhelmed, emotional, but safe.

Sorry, it has taken me longer than I expected to finish this. Thank you for your help.

Kind Regards,
Amber Wilson

Hi Elaine,

Thank you for the response and information.

Please keep me updated on the AT forms as majority of applications right now is being swept under the carpet due to the huge backlog of the NDIA. Previous AT forms have not been assigned to a consultant back dating to December 2020. This is where I come in regarding the wait times.

In regards to the complex home modifications, can I kindly request if you uphold the licence to conduct these assessments as this must be completed by a senior OT.
I have a builder who I'm currently working with who is very prompt with appointments and relevant reports for the NDIA. This company is called Modplex Construction who also can assign a project manager. As this is bathroom modifications, this comes under complex modifications. Bathroom modifications will be $20,000 and over. This requires x 2 quotations.

I spoke with Amber yesterday who advised this is taking a very long time and has requested myself to organize a builder to conduct a quote which states in her current NDIS plan. If we do not utilize this, the NDIS will not put this in her next plan.

I will go ahead and book this in as we will need a detailed report to advise and break down the costing of Bathroom Modifications. The current NDIS plan does not fund for complex home modifications as you know, we will need a quote along with a consultation draft invoice to also send to the NDIS to advise the costing.

Any existing AT forms, please keep me in the emails to ensure I'm updating on all requests.

Have a wonderful Friday!

t applications etc.

At the moment, we are working on getting a number of quotes to have a ramp installed around the back of the house and have the back door widened so that the chair can be stored and charged in that room. Once a quote is obtained (hopefully soon as it has been a lot of back and forth lately) another application will be sent.

Yes, Amber also needs complex bathroom modifications done which will require a project manager to assist us with the process. This has been discussed with Amber, but at the moment her priority after the ramp access application is completed is that Amber has a more suitable bed and mattress as her current one is inadequate and causes a lot of pain and discomfort when sleeping and when spending time in the bed (which is a majority of the time).

I am happy to discuss this further with Amber next time I see her if you suggest that we get the ball rolling with bathroom modifications first and get it done before the end of her plan?

Thank you for reaching out and getting in touch with us! I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Kind regards,

Elaine Davies

As discussed, if I can please get you to complete the steps below this will be highly appreciated. • Cancel services with ARK as they still have a frozen amount in your own NDIS plan. After this is completed this funding will then become available. • Due to the delay with previous home mods, happy to refer you to someone who will get this done before your plan ends. Very important to have this done! If you will like to go forward with this recommendation, happy to send a referral off. • Please send an email to consent in moving your signature over to consents for plan managers with I give you consent to move my signature on to documentation to have access to my portal • Advise when would be good to have a face to face appointment, just you and I, in a public space to have a confidential chat	$6.51
